*Make sure you are taking enough upper division courses from the University of Oregon (at least 62 credits) in order to graduate.

*If you want to know precisely what courses in your previous institution transferred to the University of Oregon, please go onto DuckWeb and look at your degree audit. The ones that apply to the major or general education will show up as black to indicate that it does satisfy your degree requirements.

*If you notice a mistake on your transfer work or if a class did not show up, remember to print an unofficial or official transcript of your work at the previous school and go to Oregon Hall to talk to the Registrar. They will analyze the course and determine equivalency. Sometimes they may ask for a course syllabus from the course that you took which didn't transfer into the university.

*Talk to Jagdeep Bala (jagdeep@uoregon.edu) for course waivers and equivalency if the course is directly related to the psychology major.
